

Let's HEAR It FOR ALMIGAL

In celebration of Better Hearing and Speech Month, join us for a children's book launch party featuring
Wendy Kupfer, author of "Let's Hear It For Almigal"

Date

Saturday, May 5, 2012, 1:00–2:30 p.m.

Place

AG Bell Association for the Deaf and Hard of Hearing
3417 Volta Place, NW
Washington, DC 20007

RSVP

Trenita Dickey at tdickey@agbell.org or 202-204-4685

CART and an interpreter will be provided.

About the Author

Wendy Kupfer knows Almigal's story well. Doctors diagnosed her daughter Ali at the age of 10 months with a profound hearing loss and predicted she would never speak, but the doctors underestimated this unbeatable mother-daughter team. Wendy's dedication and drive, paired with Ali's hard work and determination, produced one spunky, confident "chatterbox" and two passionate advocates for the deaf and hard of hearing. Be sure to visit Wendy and Almigal at www.wendykupfer.com.

Meet Almigal, the happy, spunky little girl with a BIG personality who feels unlucky because she can't hear everything she wants to hear. Almigal wants to hear every sound in the universe—from the robins singing outside her bedroom window to the soft music during ballet class and her friend's teeny-tiny voice. Readers will rejoice with Almigal when a solution is found to her problem. Endearing, lighthearted and informative, the book can be enjoyed by children with and without hearing loss.

Children will enjoy a book reading and discussion with the author, coloring pages from the book, and light refreshments at the historic Volta Bureau.